HELD IN TORSO MURDERS

James Ford Seale (left) and Charles Marcus Edwards, both of Meadville, faced murder charges today in the slaying last May of two Negroes who mutilated bodies were found two months later floating in the Mississippi River. Seale, 29, and Edwards, 31, both of the Bunkley community near Meadville, were charged with murders of Charlie Moore, a student at Alcorn A&M College, and Henry H. Dee, a Roxie planing mill worker. They were arrested by FBI agents and local officers and were being held today pending a preliminary hearing on murder charges.
